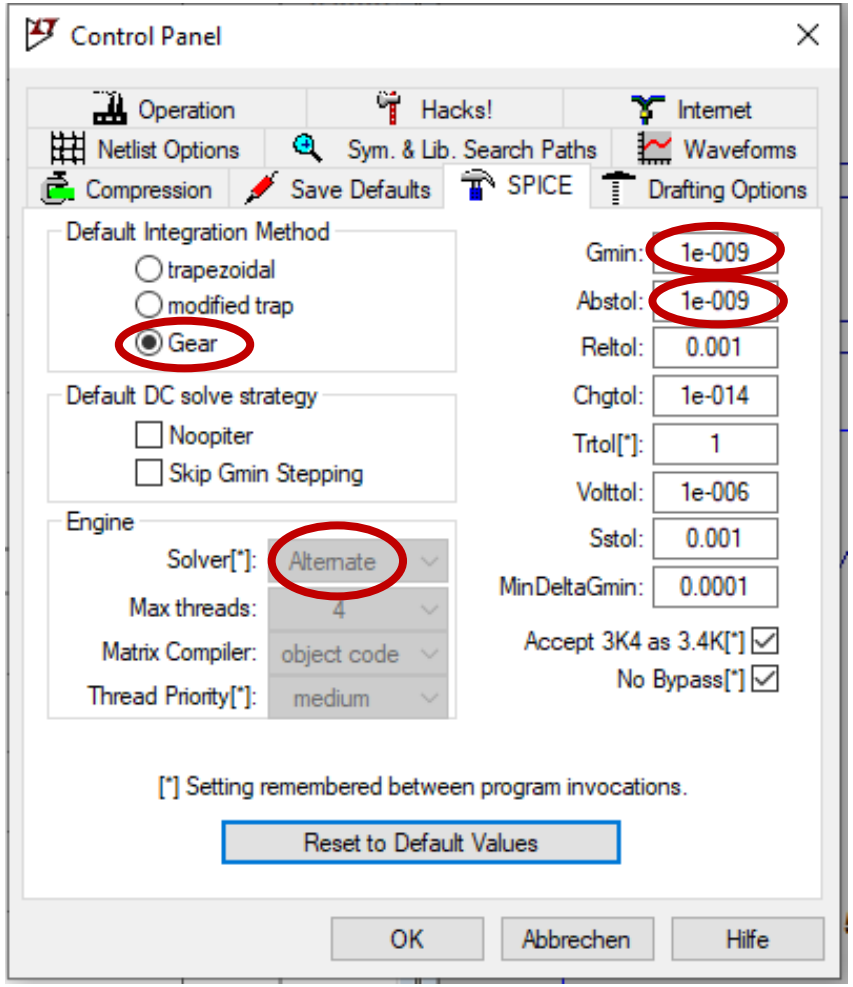
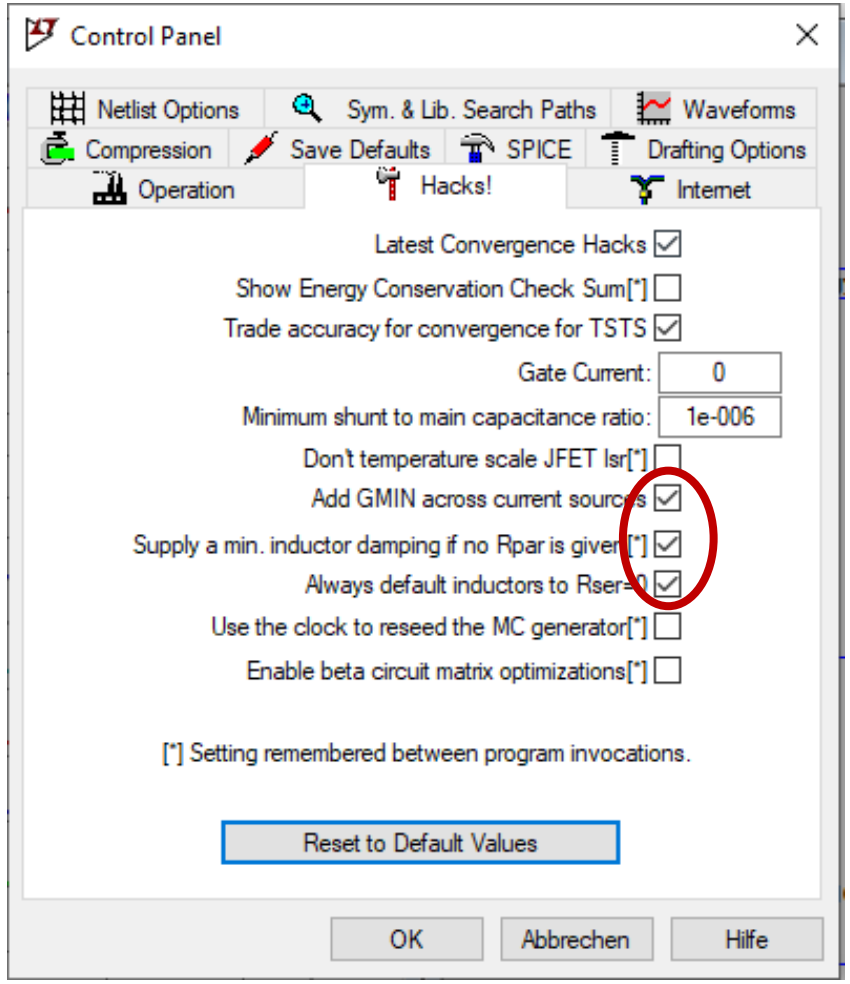
Simulator settings in LTspice





In LTspice simulation speed and convergence is worse than in SIMetrix, the simulator for which the model has been developed. In case of convergence issues, it is helpfull to change the maximum time step (between 1ns and 100ns) or to slightly change switching parameters like the gate resitance or the load current.