Access to myInfineon Collaboration Platform (myICP) and Smart Power Switches & Controllers - safety documentation

Registered users click here myInfineon Collaboration Platform, otherwise known as the myICP is a portal through which you can access all the documentation related to Infineon's products. While most documentation is accessible via Infineon's website, confidential documents requiring Non-Disclosure Agreements (NDAs) from customers can be accessed from myICP.

How can I get access to exclusive documentation?

Step 1:
Register to our myInfineon platform

1. Sign up here
2. Type in the necessary information in the registration form
3. Activate your account by clicking on the link in the e-mail sent to you

Step 2:
Become a promoted user in myInfineon

Registering as a myInfineon user is not enough.

You need to be a promoted user in Infineon's network to access myICP.

Please ask your Infineon sales representative to send the promotion request on your behalf. This will ensure maximum visibility on documents.

Step 3:
Get access to the required documents

This step is only possible after Step 2, i.e. after your account has been successfully promoted.

It requires you to wait till you get a confirmation from us.
