

Agile Team Coach (f/m/div)*

Job description

At Infineon, we strive for a working environment in which agility is also used heavily in hardware-related product development processes. Do you want to play a major role in the support of the development projects for Automotive applications? Do you want to be part of the agile transformation at Infineon, by driving new ways of handling activities and projects? Then, join our Project Management Excellence team as an Agile Team Coach and be part of a highly-skilled team!

As an Agile Team Coach, you will support the development projects for Automotive applications by driving the agile transformation. In this position, you will be part of a team of agile team coaches located at different development centers, also supporting (virtual) cross-site projects.

In your new role you will:

- Work with the organization towards an agile organizational structure and bring agile elements into daily work;
- Integrate agile methods into classical project organizations and interfaces;
- Coach the Development/Project Teams, Product Owner/Project Manager, Management, and other stakeholders within the organization about agile culture and development;
- Improve the team members' self-managing skills in order to maximize team performance and foster collaboration within the team;
- Organize, manage and facilitate agile working methods while considering relevant business processes at Infineon;
- Design and implement agile scaling frameworks.

Profile

You demonstrate high-quality standards for yourself and other people and persistently work to do things better, faster, more effectively, and more efficiently. You communicate openly, clearly, and coherently and are able to quickly establish successful cooperation with all levels and functions of the organization.

You are best equipped for this task if you have:

- A degree in electrical engineering, business management, or similar field of studies;
- At least 5 years of experience in HW development and/or as an agile team coach;
- Solid experience in agile product development and agile engineering as well as sound knowledge of classical project management methods;
