

Project Manager Chip Embedding (f/m/div)*

Job description

You are an experienced project manager striving to work in an international environment? You are eager to lead teams of experts in developing the most advanced Power Semiconductor products and back-end technologies? As Senior Project Manager within the DCDC Business Line of our Power & Sensor Systems division, you have the chance to do exactly that. You will be in the driving seat of the most advanced Innovation and Product Projects to support Infineon leadership in Power Semiconductors. You will manage internal and external stakeholders, with strong focus on business and development risks. You will be part of a strongly growing business where your role will make a difference. Sounds interesting? Then seize the chance to apply now and become part of a highly motivated team!

In your new job you will:

- Lead projects linked to state-of-the art package technology with noticeable impact on Infineon business
- Be responsible of an innovative environment where ideas are assessed vs business potential and carried-out through projects
- Assume full responsibility for your projects (cost, timeline, specs and stakeholder satisfaction) by continuously assessing the progress, the risks and adjusting the project plan accordingly
- Actively manage internal and external key stakeholders in an international environment, negotiate trade-offs and motivate others towards common goals
- Ensure that the project compliant with internal rules and regulations at any stage of the project life-cycle
- Be in direct contact with some of Infineon key customers/providers to work together on value proposition and implementation of new technologies

This position is part of the Project Management Career Path which provides an attractive career opportunity for employees who focus on managing projects and functional leadership of project team members.

Profile

You are a self-motivated person who strives for high performance, quality, efficiency, and continuous improvement. As a role model for open communication and feedback, you know how to successfully align cross-functionally and with different kinds of people on an international level. Your structured working style helps you to follow the big picture and contribute to the business success of the organization.
